NOW ENROLLING

A clinical research study is evaluating the growth and safety in healthy term infants fed with an investigational milk-based infant formula produced from grass-fed cows.

To qualify for this study, your child must meet the following criteria:

- 14 days of age or younger
- Healthy term infant
- Not breastfed at time of study entry

If your child joins this clinical study he/she will receive:

- Investigational infant formula for duration of study (approximately 4 months) at no cost
- Reimbursement for time and travel for study visits

If you or someone you know may be interested in participating in this study, please contact:
